LEGISLATURE MAY LOWER SCHOLASTIC AGE TO SIX YEARS

House Engrosses Love Senate Bill After Two Hour Debate On Floor

SENATE PEN COMMITTEE FAVORS COUSINS BILL

Request Holbrook and MacFarlane Measures Be Given In Minority Report

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—Texas tonight seemed apparently on the road toward vacating its singular position as the only state preventing children under the age of 7 from attending the public school. The house had engrossed the Love senate bill after the opposition had been defeated in a two-hour debate.

The measure lowers the age limit from 7 to 6, giving free tuition to almost 100,000 under the former age whose instruction has been paid for by their parents. Shaver of Huntsville who led the fight for adoption of the bill was charged by Sinks of Giddings with attempting to create nurseries in the public schools.

If mothers want to get rid of their children so they can play bridge, they ought to be willing to pay tuition," the veteran lawmaker said, "and I am opposed to a 6-year limit, whether it's in the name of education or sanitation."

Favor Cousins Bill

AUSTIN, Feb. 6.—In the session's stormiest senate gathering, the committee on the penitentiary reform bill favorably, with the request that the Holbrook and MacFarlane measures be printed in a minority report.

The vote was 7 to 6, with supporters of the Holbrook administration bill voting no. Holbrook charged that MacFarlane, chairman of the committee, was ineligible for that post because he was an interested party. MacFarlane overruled the objection. Holbrook moved to override the MacFarlane decision and the Graham senator held the ruling of the chair could not be upset.

Cousins' measure would centralize the prison system around the Darrington farm, while the Holbrook proposal would create a board with power to determine the location of the concentrated system.

No support other than that of the author was offered for the MacFarlane plan which would retain the penitentiary and two of the northern farms as well as the southern farms which the Cousins bill would keep.

Bolter Ouster Case Reversed By High Court

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—J. W. Nicholson, deposed member of the Wichita county Democratic executive committee, was granted a writ of error by the supreme court today in his appeal from a decision of the Fort Worth court of civil appeals dissolving an injunction restraining Edgar Scurry, county chairman, from declaring Nicholson's place vacant and appointing a successor.

The right of county chairmen to unseat members who refused to support nominees of the Democratic party is in controversy in the case. Nicholson was one of a number of Wichita county committeemen unseated for refusal to support party nominees.

METHODS USED IN HIGHWAY PROBE ATTACKED

Engineer Stops Imputation Through Questions Asked By Questioner

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—The charge of an engineer with the state highway department that an unwarranted attempt was being made to besmirch his character almost broke up this afternoon's session of the legislative investigation of the department and board of control.

The reference to the engineer was couched in a question propounded by Rep. Geron, author of the investigation resolution, to Joe P. Neal, equipment engineer of the department. It concerned a personal meeting between two engineers and another man.

The engineer mentioned in the question was, his face, red, his body trembling and addressing the chairman suggested that it was unwarranted.

"I would like to have it expunged from the record because if it gets into the newspapers it will besmirch my character and it certainly is unwarranted," he said. Sen. Woodall wanted to know of Geron who asked him to propound that question. He gave the name of Don Biggers who he said published the Radio Post.

"The party who asked that question ought to be 'burnt up' in the report," Woodall said.

"I did not put myself in the place of a prosecutor. I merely invited the highway commissioner to come and bring the record," Geron said. "I am trying in my feeble way to prove the charges."

"Very feeble," Senator Woodall retorted.

"That is not for you to say, sir," Geron shot back.

Alfred McKnight, Fort Worth attorney representing the Pierce Petroleum company and Neal were the only witnesses used.

McKnight's testimony was corroborated by what Roy T. Tennant, member of the board of control testified to yesterday concerning the awarding of contract for gasoline and oil.

2 Men Killed in Crossing Crash

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 6. (P)—C. B. Watters of San Antonio was killed and W. Lee Yarborough, also of San Antonio, was seriously injured when the K-T passenger train No. 1 struck their automobile at Hunter, north of here, today.

It was believed the auto stalled on the railroad track in front of the speeding train.

The engineer stopped the locomotive and both men were placed on the train to be carried to San Marcos. Watters died en route and his companion was taken to a hospital.

Watters until recently was an appraiser for the state banking department. Yarborough, until two years ago was chief income tax collector and was connected with the state banking department for a year since then.

JENSEN OFF FOR SOLO FLIGHT RECORD

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 6. (P)—Martin Jensen, of Los Angeles, took the air at 9:04:05 a. m. today in his monoplane "The Green Flash" in an attempt to create a new world's solo endurance flight record.

He hopes to remain in the air 40 hours and thus beat the old record of 35 hours and 25 minutes which was created by the late Lieutenant Royal Thomas.

Jensen planned to hover over the Long Island flying fields with occasional dashes over New York City and other nearby cities. His plane but was forced down on the beach at Northport, Long Island, on account of mechanical difficulties after he had been in the air several hours.

Jensen attempted an endurance record on January 30 in the same plane but was forced down on the beach at Northport, Long Island, on account of mechanical difficulties after he had been in the air several hours.

WALES MINE TOUR MAY ME AN NEW BRITISH REGIME

The visit of the Prince of Wales to the mining country is expected to have a significant effect on the British elections in June, which possibly may result in the overthrow of the Baldwin cabinet and the rise of a Labor or coalition government in its place. Regarding this tour of the mines, in northern England, where more than a million people are on the verge of starvation, the prince has expressed his sympathy, and even the Conservative newspapers have carried stories of this trip and the wretched condition he witnessed. Above, the prince, left; Premier Stanley Baldwin, and typical mining town scenes.

GERMANY ACCEPTS KELLOGG TREATY

Communist Demonstration During Debate In Reichstag Enlivens Session

BERLIN, Feb. 6. (P)—The Reichstag today adopted a bill ratifying Germany's signature of the Kellogg renunciation of war pact. The vote was 237 to 127.

During today's debate on ratification there was much excitement when a Communist member rushed from his seat and threw what appeared to be a hand grenade upon the table of the house at the same time shouting: "Down with war!"

Other Communists also rushed to the table with the same shout.

The president at first was unable to make himself heard amidst the tumult but finally succeeded in quieting the house. The Communists returned to their seats after recapturing the grenade which appeared to have been a dummy intended merely for demonstration purposes.

For a number of years Standard Oil of Indiana, Mr. Williams pointed out, "has been at loggerheads with a number of Standard Oil of New Jersey subsidiaries, particularly the Continental Oil Co., the Ohio Oil Co., the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., the Carter Oil Co., and the Prairie Pipe Line Co."

These subsidiaries for years have been trying to break into the Rocky mountain area where Standard of Indiana, through its subsidiary, Midwest Refining Co., has enjoyed a monopoly. Down in the midcontinent field in the past year Standard of Indiana gives further offense to Standard Oil of New Jersey by building another pipeline to Chicago in competition with the Prairie Pipe Line company.

When Speaker Burdon refused to allow factions to open up a discussion on the merits of the plan, Van Zandt's motion carried by an 83 to 46 vote. The Grayson county alone then asked that the substitute amendment, decreasing the amount to $175,000,000, be printed and a storm of protests followed.

Representative Tillotson of Sealy, staunch opponent of the plan, and Representative Anderson of San Antonio, contended that friends of the highway program were attempting a ruse not supported by precedent, and that action taken by the house committee in spiking the Sterling proposal, prevented it from again being placed in the hopper. Tillotson finally withdrew his objection when Van Zandt agreed that the amendment be printed in the house journal only.

A contract between Johnston and Kress and Tobbe, Perry law firm, authorizing legal action "if necessary" was introduced in evidence today. A claim for $200, payable to the attorneys, and taken from the fund for extraordinary protection of the state, was produced for the committee by Scott Stine, assistant state auditor.

Leahy loses Fight For Life

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—Harry J. Leahy of Mathis today lost his motion for a rehearing before the court of criminal appeals and unless the governor intervenes he will die in the electric chair for the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, also of Mathis.

Leahy was convicted by a Williamson county jury, after he had refused to take a sentence of 50 years at his first trial in Live Oak county. The Live Oak county court granted his motion for a new trial and sent the case to Williamson county on a change of venue.

Dr. Ramsey's body was found in a shallow grave several weeks after he had disappeared from his home. He left with a Mexican who had asked him to minister to his sick wife.

Later the Mexican was arrested at Laredo and it was his confession that implicated Leahy.

MINORITY GROUP TO AID STEWART

"Justice Society" Formed To Aid Oil Head In Court Fight

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. (P)—A group of minority Standard Oil Company of Indiana stockholders have organized under the name of the Justice Society, Inc., to vote for Col. Robert W. Stewart's reelection as chairman of Standard of Indiana and later his removal and the entire board of directors through court action. R. G. Williams, a retired engineer and the society's leader, announced today.

His society is not joining forces with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to oust Col. Stewart at the March 7 directors' meeting. Mr. Williams said, because he and his associates believe the other Standard Oil groups, including Standard of New Jersey, are taking advantage of the fight to gain control of the Indiana company. This, in his opinion, would be to the detriment of Indiana stockholders.

For a number of years Standard Oil of Indiana, Mr. Williams pointed out, "has been at loggerheads with a number of Standard Oil of New Jersey subsidiaries, particularly the Continental Oil Co., the Ohio Oil Co., the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., the Carter Oil Co., and the Prairie Pipe Line Co."

Humor Found in Inscriptions on Grave Markers

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 6. (P)—A bit of "homestone" humor was injected into the session of the Memorial Craftsman of Nebraska conference today.

The craftsmen are manufacturers of gravestones.

Dean F. A. Alabaster of Nebraska Wesleyan university at Lincoln, in discussing this humor revealed his hobby—collecting and cataloging unusual epitaphs.

Many grave markers bearing humorous inscriptions have to do with one's spouse. Here were two the dean found:

"This dear little spot is the joy of my life."

"It raises my flowers and covers my wife."

"Here lies my wife, so let her lie."

"She's now at rest and so am I."

Another recorded on a Maine tombstone by a bereft widow, read:

"Sacred to the memory of James J. Ream, who died August 6, 1900. His widow, who mourns as one who can be comforted, aged 24, and possessing every good qualification for a good wife, lives at 140 Chatham street, this village."

GALVESTON, Feb. 6. (P)—Damage in excess of $25,000 was done by a fire which destroyed the warehouse of the Gulf Fisheries, Inc., at pier 22 here today. Boats in the vicinity escaped and shipping was not interrupted with. A new concrete structure will replace the building.

ROAD BOND PLAN REVIVED IN HOUSE

Sterling Measure Comes Up For Consideration Through Minority Report

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—The Sterling $175,000,000 road bond plan which failed to pass the house committee on constitutional amendments last week was revived today through a minority report over objections of a group who contended proponents of the resolution acted in bad faith.

The move to take the finance plan off the shelf was launched by Representative Van Zandt of Tigua, who asked that the original bond plan, calling for $225,000,000, be printed.

When Speaker Burdon refused to allow factions to open up a discussion on the merits of the plan, Van Zandt's motion carried by an 83 to 46 vote. The Grayson county alone then asked that the substitute amendment, decreasing the amount to $175,000,000, be printed and a storm of protests followed.

MRS. HAMMONDS RESIGNS POST WITH JOHNSTON

Confidential Secretary To Suspended Governor Of Oklahoma Quits Job

IMPEACHMENT INQUIRIES INVOLVE ROAD CONTRACT

Johnston Denies Kight Prediction Mrs. Hammonds Will Be Re-instated

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 6. (P)—Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, confidential secretary to Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, about whom Oklahoma political storms have revolved for two years, announced her resignation tonight, effective at once.

The announcement came as the house investigating committee was inquiring into her activities in the governor's office along a line that recalled a purported impeachment charge voted by the house against Johnston in December, 1927, in connection with Mrs. Hammonds' employment.

At that time, Johnston was charged with creation of an office for which there was no statutory provision. The title borne by Mrs. Hammonds was coined in the governor's office.

Anticipating the announcement, Rep. H. Tom Kight, prosecutor of the administration, said it probably would be made as an attempt to restore confidence in Johnston and charged that Mrs. Hammonds would be re-instated as soon as the legislature adjourned.

Johnston issued a statement saying Mrs. Hammonds would not return to his office in any capacity whatever if he is acquitted of the eleven articles of impeachment which have been filed against him.

Gus Wollard, chairman of the state board of affairs, gave the committee additional details of a projected contract for the operation of a rock crusher at the state reformatory at Granite, in which previous witnesses testified they understood Mrs. Hammonds was interested. Johnston himself asked Wollard if Mrs. Hammonds had an interest in the contract, the chairman said, and he replied he believed she was involved. Mrs. Hammonds heatedly denied it, Wollard said.

Road Contract Involved.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 6. (P)—Evidence intended to show that Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, used state money in an attempt to prevent the performance of a Noble county road contract awarded to Tom L. Green, Oklahoma City contractor, was introduced today before the house of representatives committee investigating Johnston's administration.

Henry W. Leininger, chairman of the state highway commission, told the committee several days ago that Johnston had strenuously opposed awarding the contract to Green, declaring the contractor had wronged him personally.

Leininger said he did not know whether Johnston had instigated an injunction suit which prevented Green from carrying out the contract.

A contract between Johnston and Kress and Tobbe, Perry law firm, authorizing legal action "if necessary" was introduced in evidence today. A claim for $200, payable to the attorneys, and taken from the fund for extraordinary protection of the state, was produced for the committee by Scott Stine, assistant state auditor.

DRAFTING NEW SEARCH MEASURE

Sub-Committee of Senate Criminal Jurisprudence Body Asked To Revise Bill

AUSTIN, Feb. 6. (P)—Draft of a measure to replace the search and seizure laws, found obnoxious by "dry" agencies and peace officers, today was in the hands of Senators Wirtz, Parr and Hornsby.

These were named a subcommittee of the senate's committee on criminal jurisprudence after a stormy hearing last night which ended in at least a temporary compromise.

Senators Wirtz and Love, who engaged in debate throughout most of the hearing agreed to have the provisions of the fourth amendment to the federal constitution embodied in the statutory laws of Texas.

The LOW-DOWN

By Jack Lancaster

Place: Grand.
Film: "The Red Dance."
Stars: Dolores Del Rio, Charles Farrell, Ivan Linow.

Just another revolution and not a very good one at that. "The Red Dance" is a story that has been done time and time again and it contains the usual over-drawn sequences seen so often in such productions. It is the story of Russia during the bloody revolutionary period and Dolores Del Rio has the role of "The Red Dancer," a leader of the revolutionists. Charles Farrell portrays the grand duke who falls in love with the heroine, who saves him from the vengeance of the people when the proletariat gains control of Russia. Ivan Linow, a new Hollywood find, does fine work as the private soldier and later as the "Red" leader. Dolores Del Rio has been given much better roles than that of the peasant girl in this film. Charles Farrell comes through okay as the grand duke but for some reason or other he is hard to visualize as such. This boy needs a more boyish and sentimental part. Ivan Linow takes the honors, if there are any, in this production with his impersonation of the burly private, "The Red Dancer" was meant to be a special attraction and it is evident that huge sums of money were spent to make it just that but somewhere in the shuffle the little things that tend to make an enjoyable movie, are lost.

Priceless Little Rocks Attach Value To Home-made Hearth

Joe Parks and his fireplace. ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 6.—Two years ago Joe Parks got an idea. He was planning to build a new home near here and, being a sportsman, his fireplace wouldn't be complete if he was without a den in which to display his many trophies.

But in planning his den Joe Parks wanted to have something unique, something out of the ordinary, so he chose the fireplace to hold this honor.

Now, two years after the idea came to him, Joe takes his friends into his den, immediately walks to the fireplace, and, with an air of pride, points to one of the many numbers on the various stones which make up the structure.

"There," he usually begins, pointing to a stone with the numeral one, "is a stone taken from the site of the manger where Christ was born, in Bethlehem."

"And this one," he adds, pointing to another, "is from the boyhood home of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, world famous flyer, at Little Falls, Minn."

And so on down the line Joe usually points out stone after stone over his hearth which, he claims, and others agree, is probably the world's most historic fireplace.

There are stones in the fireplace from all corners of the earth—77 in all.

"You see," he explains, "I didn't gather all these myself. I got many of them through information supplied by the National Geographic society, the Carnegie Institute at Washington, D. C., and some were secured with the co-operation of postmasters in various sections of the United States and Canada, and, in many foreign countries through the courtesy of American consuls."

"A few of the stones came from customers of mine in various parts of the world. I operate a large poultry farm."

"Now this stone from Christ's birthplace," Parks goes on, pointing again at No. 1, "I was able to get through the assistant postmaster at Bethlehem. And No. 2, over there, I procured through the American colony stores at Jerusalem. It is from the ruins of Solomon's temple at that place."

Johnstown Flood

Another of historic value secured near his home was a stone from the breast of the Johnstown dam, which brings back memories of 1889, when hundreds met death under the onrush of water from the dam when its walls were unable to hold the heavy pressure.

One of the most unusual is a stone from the house where Colonel Lindbergh spent his youth. It is a formation resembling concrete mottled with bits of dark, hard substance, one of which forms a plain "L."

A feature of the fireplace is that the stones ranging from No. 10 up to and including No. 49 give a varied history of the development of North America from the time of the Norsemen on down to the old Alamo.

VARIED PROGRAM A LUNCHEON CLUB

Song and Dance Sketch is Enjoyed By Young Men's Club

The program at the Young Men's Luncheon club yesterday was most interesting because of its diversity. The committee, Martin Dewitt and Jack Whipple, deserve credit for the splendid program they provided. With Miss Elizabeth Williams accompanying, Misses Theodora Thompson and Harrolyn Anderson sang two songs which were very much appreciated by the club in that they were illustrated by the two young singers as they sang. The songs were "School Day Sweethearts" and "My Man." One of the young ladies was dressed as a man.

Frank Johnson of the chamber of commerce spoke briefly on wanting the roofs of Paris buildings painted to guide aeroplanes. He suggested that the club take the matter under advisement.

Ray G. Upson and Powell Lee of the Stephens evangelistic party were at the meeting, and with Mr. Lee at the piano Mr. Upson led the club in singing some old songs familiar to all.

Fischer Osburn gave the prize which Charles Crawford won. Frank McClure gives it next week.

Visitors at the club were Sam Weiss of the Gulf Refining company, R. B. Mayfield of the Magnolia Petroleum company, and F. A. Walker of the Texas and Pacific railroad.

J. L. Sherner and Lee Aikin were invited into the club at yesterday's meeting.

SANDWICH MEN SPREAD GOSPEL IN ENGLAND

LONDON, (AP)—The "saving souls by slogans" movement is drawing support from every walk of British life.

Piccadilly Circus at night and all other public places in London where there are large gatherings now sees the gospel silently proclaimed by sandwich-men. One of these is a wealthy London stock broker.

The movement was started by Commander Galwey, a retired naval officer who came out from Worthing to work his way north with a banner.

A window cleaner, unknown to him, had also set out from the north-country to tramp south, and the two met half-way. That meeting was the origin of the unofficial slogan-carrying movement.

One of the most zealous supporters is H. Aveling Baker, the stockbroker. He is a picturesque figure with a patriarchal white beard, and he pursues his policy of passing on the messages of the Bible even in his everyday business life.

Clients who visit his private office cannot escape a bold, blue and red poster on the wall, bearing this injunction: "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

"It is a wonderful, lovely work," says Baker. "Those who take part in it receive not a penny, and some are as poor as church mice. We have taxicab drivers, window cleaners, soldiers and sailors and all manner of simple working men who are prepared to give up a day's work to carry the Word at some great gathering."

"People often laugh, but we can bear ridicule."

"I have tramped the slums at midnight and come to no harm. I have seen drunken men go down on their knees to say their prayers."

"Our policy is never to obtrude ourselves on the public. Carrying a slogan is the most inoffensive way of preaching to the people. Those who wish can ignore the message, but time and time again it goes home."

ROOKIE DETECTIVE LOSES OWN CASE

NEW YORK.—With a diploma in his pocket, a shiny tin star under his coat and the lessons from a correspondence course for detectives still fresh in his mind, John Miller, 38, arrived in New York. He had come to find some cases so he could practice his new profession.

Within a block of the station, he met a man who looked honest and they dropped into a "place." Pretty soon John's memory left him. So did his acquaintance and John's worldly wealth of $98.

For two days he spurned the police and did his own detecting. Finally he went to headquarters and gave them the serial numbers of his one two and five-dollar bills. Said he: "I guess you won't have any trouble catching that crook now."

FISH CANNOT BE CAUGHT "AT REST"

HONOLULU.—The Hawaiian legislature, like those of other states, furnishes a laugh now and then.

During a recent session the lower house went on record as being opposed to the molesting of fish "during their hours of rest."

A committee reporting on the practices of fishing between sunset and sunrise, said it had found that gill nets were being placed at night and fish were being driven into them.

The committee declared the practice was wrong, "as it molests fish during their hours of rest, and drives them from their breeding grounds."

CHILD STUDY ADVISED FOR WRITERS OF BOOKS

BOSTON (AP)—Authors of textbooks for children first should study the psychology of children, Arthur W. Kallom of the Boston public schools believes. He thinks this is particularly necessary for those who prepare arithmetic books for the lower grades.

Conditions in these grades could be greatly improved, Mr. Kallom says, if the writers would pay more attention to the needs of the children who study their books. He thinks they should be encouraged to gain power in solving problems rather than to go through set forms of explanation "which satisfy no one but the teacher."

"Children learn to solve the problems set down in the books, but do not solve problems of the same nature stated differently," he declares.

HIGH TEMPER BLAMED ON DISEASES OF YOUTH

NEW YORK, (AP)—Two results of disease, a tendency to get angry easily and an inclination toward fear, were analyzed before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

George M. Stratton of the University of California said that evidence indicates that disease is connected in after-life with irascibility. Instead of breeding patience, it appears that "persons who have had a greater number of diseases appear to be more irascible than do those who have had few diseases."

"The time when the disease occurs is important. Persons who have suffered disease in the first five years of their lives appear in general to respond more intensely to anger situations than do persons whose disease came later."

"The evidence is far more doubtful with regard to fear. There are faintest indications that an occurrence of disease is followed by a lasting tendency to heightening of fear and that the greater the number of diseases the stronger is this tendency. But the stronger fears seem to occur, not in those whose diseases came in early childhood, but in those whose diseases came at a later period of life."

P AND M P STOCKHOLDERS HAVE MEETING TODAY

The regular meeting of the stockholders of the Paris and Mt. Pleasant Railroad company will be held at the offices of the company at 10 o'clock this morning, according to word received from F. L. Brantley. Routine business will be transacted at this meeting, it is reported.

WOULD TRANSFER M'DONALD CASE

Contestants of Will Allege Fair and Impartial Trial Impossible Here

Contestants of the will of the late William J. McDonald, in which the Paris capitalist bequeathed a million and a quarter dollars to the University of Texas for the erection and maintenance of an astronomical observatory. Wednesday filed a motion for a change of venue from Lamar county. This case has already been tried before two trial juries here. The will contest is scheduled to go to trial for the third time, beginning Monday, March 4.

in the Sixty-second district court, Judge Newman Phillips presiding. The contestants allege that a fair and impartial trial could not be obtained in Lamar county.

The second trial of this case last November resulted in a mistrial after evidence had been introduced for nearly a month. The jury was deadlocked ten and two, with the majority contending that Mr. McDonald did not entertain "insane delusions" as to the possibilities of astronomy. The first trial two years ago resulted in a decision for the proponents but the case was remanded to Lamar county by the Supreme court of Texas on a writ of error.

BENEFIT CARD PARTY FOR FRIDAY DEFERRED

Announcement is made of the postponement of the benefit bridge party at the Episcopal parish house Friday, due to conflict with other affairs and the prevalence of illness.

Luncheon is Given Lamar Study Club

A delightful two course luncheon preceded the regular program meeting of the Lamar Study Club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elbert Goolsby on North Twenty-seventh street. Luncheon guests besides the club members included Mrs. F. G. Cook and Mrs. Sam Saunders.

Mrs. L. B. Stephens conducted an enjoyable discussion of "In Earthen Bowls," a volume of verse by Nellie Burget Miller, and roll call was answered with quotations. "The Essentials of Poetry" was the topic of a paper by Mrs. J. P. Saffold; Mrs. C. M. Terrell gave "The Philosophy of Mrs. Miller."

and Mrs. Bozeman discussed "Word Choice in Poetry."

Mrs. Miller's verse as distinctive American; the moods in which she excels, discussion of her best poem and the question of a state poet laureate were brought out in the questions following the papers. The meeting on February 20 is to be held with Mrs. L. B. Stephens.

Literature Club Elects Officers

These officers were elected by the American Literature club at its meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Crawford on South Twenty-sixth street: President, Mrs. Blake Lee; vice president, Mrs. Annie Chism; secretary, Miss Mildred Fleming; treasurer, Miss Mary Agnes McFarland; reporter, Mrs. J. H. Bentley.

Mrs. Chism reported for the program committee that plans were under way for next season's year book, and material is being collected.

The resignation of Miss Ruth Coleman, whose marriage to Stanley Martin of Bryan took place recently, was accepted, and a leave of absence was extended Mrs. J. W. Crook.

A delightful study of Texas verse was led by Miss Merle Brazleton who read a paper on Texas state parks and historical trees. Texas legends were given as answers to roll call, and proved an interesting feature of the program.

The books studied were "Cornstalks and Cottonblossoms" by Whitney Montgomery, and "White Fire" by Grace Noll Crowell, and were discussed as representative of the writers and of other Texas verse.

A salad course was served during the social hour and Miss Maude Neville was a guest at this time.

Miss Brazleton will be the hostess on February 20.

BISHOP HAY TO BE BANQUET SPEAKER

Men of First Methodist Church to Have Annual Affair This Month

The annual banquet for men of the First Methodist church is planned for Thursday evening, February 21, at 7:30, Bishop Sam H. Hay of Houston to be the principal speaker.

It is especially gratifying to the people of Paris to have Bishop Hay return to speak on this occasion. The first three years of his ministry were spent in and around the city of Paris. Many of his old time friends no doubt will take pleasure in greeting him at this time.

Splendid music is being arranged with the Rev. Edward Powell Lee of the Stephens evangelistic party in charge.

J. B. Hamman, layman of First Methodist church, will be toastmaster, and different committees will be announced later.

Dr. C. C. Seecma n Here On Sunday

Sunday at 11 a. m. Dr. C. C. Seecma, president of Southern Methodist university and a preacher of marked ability, will occupy the pulpit at First Methodist church.

His appearance in the pulpit on the platform in Paris is always a signal for a great crowd, and the First Methodist church is expecting him to have a very fine hearing at this hour.

EPWORTH HI LEAGUE IS ENTERTAINED ON MONDAY

The Epworth Hi League of the First Methodist church was entertained in the home of Mrs. T. E. Caldwell at 148 Clarksville street on Monday evening.

After a short business session, the Valentine spirit was shown throughout the games played and in the crowd held.

A large crowd of league members was present and enjoyed the evening, at the close of which a delicious salad course was served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Katherine Enloe.

MISSION WORKER MEETS PASTORS

Methodist Secretary of Education and Promotion in Conference Here

Dr. E. H. Rawlings of Nashville, Tenn., addressed a meeting of Methodist ministers at the office of the Rev. I. A. Kiker, presiding elder of Paris district, in Paris Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Dr. Rawlings is a member of the Virginia conference of the Methodist church but is now located in the central office of the board of missions at Nashville, as secretary of education and promotion.

Dr. Rawlings is visiting all sections of the North Texas conference, accompanied by the Rev. R. F. Bryant, conference missionary secretary. In the interest of the special missionary endeavor, the task of raising a supplementary $1,000,000 fund for home and foreign work has been assigned to the 38 conferences of Southern Methodism. Forty thousand dollars is the goal set for the North Texas conference, and of this amount $4,000 is expected from the Paris district.

Dr. Rawlings is editor of the Missionary Voice, a publication issued in the interest of missionary activities throughout the world. While only a few hours were given for calling in the ministers for this meeting, nine pastors were present in addition to the visitors and the presiding elder, including L. D. Shawver of Roston, W. B. Arnold of Pattonville, R. S. Kerr of Brookston, S. M. Dunnam of Deport, F. L. McCown of Detroit, F. M. Richardson, J. M. Webb, A. B. English and W. H. Wright of Paris.

In addition to reports from the success of this campaign, both speakers stressed the needs of the board of missions to maintain the workers in the field.

PSYCHOLOGIST ON POWER OF VOICE

Last of Lecture Series By Dr. Bryant at High School This Evening

The power of the voice as the agent of the mind was developed Wednesday evening in the third of a series of four lectures given by Dr. Gordon H. Bryant, practical psychologist, presented at the high school auditorium under auspices of the Paris Lions club.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Dr. Bryant will deliver the concluding lecture on "Self Realization" and on Friday afternoon at the Gibraltar hotel will give an address of special interest to women.

Dr. Bryant attributed an appalling percentage of personal failures to lack of voice culture—not electionary training, but the use of the voice to express what the mind conceives. He declared that five years ago he was unable to make a speech in public, but had developed his voice without a single lesson.

"Fear is the great robber," he declared, pointing out that the self-conscious speaker is thinking not of what he wishes to say, but of what the audience is thinking of him. He said that to become a successful speaker one should not memorize nor rehearse his speech, but master the subject, and by grasping the theme, be able to put it into his own words.

He cited Napoleon as a man who rose to unchallenged heights through the power of his voice, despite physical handicaps and unattractive personal appearance. His dominance over his schoolmates, his success in winning and his sway over the military forces, even after his banishment to Elba, through the power of his speech, projecting his personality, were dramatically told.

The voice, Dr. Bryant declared, delivers nothing except what the speaker puts into it. The mind is master, the voice the servant. The voice conveys the character of the thought. If the mind thinks evil, the voice will betray evil; if the thought is good, it is reflected in the voice. He declared that business is lost time after time every day through allowing personal feelings to hold sway verbally.

The speaker referred to Caruso's attitude toward his voice, the singer regarding it humbly as God-given, bestowed upon him to be used for the pleasure and inspiration of others.

His lecture was a practical demonstration of the idea he advocated, for he illustrated every point with phrases or incidents in which he made every inflection of voice effective.

After-Effects of Flu More Dangerous Than Flu Itself

One of the peculiarities of influenza is that it does not leave the digestive system upset. Constant "dosing" for the colds which come so frequently after a flu-attack still further disturbs the digestion and lessens the appetite, just when the body needs nourishment more than ever.

And yet these colds are so apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia that they must be treated at the first sign.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting a delicate digestion. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

Announces the

Premier Presentation of the Season

The popular three-act melodrama, entitled

That Thing, Style

Characters:

The Lady Mae Doe
Her Husband John Doe
The Hostess Mae Doe
Guests—Mary Clark, Ruby Smith, Alice Robertson, Chloe James.
Sister Grace Doe
Flappers—Marilyn Munson, Sally Smithers, Charlotte Christman, Mayme Miller.

SYNOPSIS, ACT ONE

Place, Home of John Doe. Time, After Supper

The eternal question of "Keeping up with the Joneses" and yet "Keeping in with the bank" again comes up for discussion. John Doe has just that morning paid the usual avalanche of monthly bills, knowing that he was paying dearly for the accommodation. He wanted his wife to look nice, yet it had kept him in hot water to do so. What to do? This universal question will be answered Friday at the Parisian Style Shop.

SYNOPSIS, ACT TWO

Place, Same Time, Next Afternoon

At Mrs. Doe's club meeting on the following afternoon that thing called Style takes the spotlight. The hostess, knowing her guests rate with the most well dressed women of the town, wonders if they have husbands like John Doe, and if so, how do they keep elegantly dressed with these noticeably different styles. One by one the well groomed troupe admit that individuality without extravagance is assured at the Parisian Style Shop.

SYNOPSIS, ACT THREE

Place, Rosemont College. Time, After the Holidays

Mrs. Doe's daughter, Grace, being equally as popular in the younger set at Rosemont has her room full of charming flappers. As she unpacks her trunk full of dainty things and reveals her stylish wardrobe, "Oh's" and "Ah's" vie for prominence. What miss couldn't be happy with such a selection? Youth must be served and the Parisian had not overlooked this discriminating type of style-leader. Grace's school days will be happy ones by having an enviable individualized wardrobe.

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MADE
MEN LIKE HER

© 1929 By Central Press Association, Inc.

Chapter 12.
After Andy Adair had kissed Betty while they swam in the bathing pool at the summer camp she said: "Andy, I ask you! Was that nice?"

"Wonderfully so?" Andy answered with enthusiasm. "Quite the nicest kiss I ever had. While we are on the subject, you are changed for the better since you came down here."

"In what way?"
"Oh, I don't know!" He waved his hand vaguely. "In every way. Going to give me some dances tonight?"

"If you like. Let's go in. It's time I dressed for supper."
They swam side by side to the concrete steps. He walked beside her to the house, not leaving until she entered the door. She was very much pleased at his attentions. In school he represented the rich and sporty part of the student body, while she was of the studying class. He had never before seemed conscious she was on earth.

As Betty finished dressing someone called her downstairs. She descended to find her father and mother had come down on the bus to see her. She introduced them to many of the girls and sat between them at supper. She was glad they arrived when they did rather than half an hour before, when the whole place with filled with girls and men in bathing suits. She felt sure her mother would have been shocked.

With his good-natured smiles, Mr. Brown was an instant favorite with the girls. They tried to induce him to promise them dances that evening. Betty noticed how even the most careless was very polite and particular in front of her mother. Most of them had evidently had experience with mothers and knew of what they would disapprove!

At the dance that night she sat with her parents on a big divan explaining who the various people were until the first dance was over. She wondered who had asked Andy Adair down. As it was customary for each man to dance the first dance with his hostess, she watched. He danced with Vera, a red-headed girl, on the professional stage in the winter.

When the first dance was over he came at once to where she sat with her father and mother and asked her for a dance. She introduced him to them and saw her mother beam as she recognized the son of a wealthy man. Mrs. Brown evidently approved of him heartily.

During the wait between dances he made himself most agreeable, and then danced with Betty. He held her closer than she thought he should, but no closer than other men held their partners, so she made no objection. After a single round of the room, she yielded herself to him without hesitation.

"You darling!" he exclaimed.

He did not talk as he danced, but as the music stopped he whispered in her ear the one word: "Gosh!" managing to get into it a world of affection and admiration. She flushed with pleasure as he took her back to her father and mother. He chatted with them, making every effort to create a good impression. When the music began he started the second dance with her.

As they circled the room Betty caught a look in red-headed Vera's eyes which reminded her that Andy was her man.

"You mustn't dance with me again, Andy," Betty said. "Vera is looking daggers at me!"
"Vera doesn't own me!" He spoke stubbornly.

"But you must be polite."
"I will dance with you as often as you will let me!" He emphasized the remark with a little tightening of his arm around her. She liked it.

When they returned to her parents they found Selkoff talking with them. She waved Andy away and pulled Betty down beside her, continuing the conversation without a break. She was telling Mr. and Mrs. Brown that Betty had progressed wonderfully, and that she was pleased with her.

Andy had the next dance with Vera. They talked animatedly. Vera's eyes flashed. Betty had the impression they were quarreling. She was thrilled that another girl would quarrel with a man about her. This had never happened before. As Andy glanced over his way she smiled and winked at him while Vera's back was turned.

The moment the dance was over he was back at her side, asking her to go for a walk with him.
"No, Andy, my folks will be going soon. I want to stay with them while they are here."
"I'll drive them home if they'll let me." He looked at them as he spoke. "That is, if your mother will sit next to me. There is room

CELEBRATION OF BOY SCOUT WEEK TO OPEN FRIDAY

Special Troop Meetings Arranged and Series of Church Services Sunday

Observance of national Boy Scout week, February 8-14, in commemoration of the 15th anniversary of Scouting in America, will be started in Paris with four special troop meetings Friday night, to which parents of Scouts are specially invited.

Sunday will be observed by the Scouts with a fitting program at the regular meeting hour, 2 p. m., in addition to a schedule whereby the various troops will attend different churches in the city; during the week chapel services will be conducted in city schools, in the interest of Scouting.

The special Friday meetings are: Troop 4 will hold its meeting at the chamber of commerce at 7:30. Troop 7 will meet at the troop headquarters at 7:30.

Troop 12 will have a meeting of all boys in school of Scout age, as well as all parents who can come at 4 p. m. at the Fourth ward school.

Troop 5 will meet at Camp Clark at 7:30, weather permitting.

Each of the troops has arranged a fine program and the boys will be disappointed if their parents do not come out to witness their progress in Scouting.

Other troop meetings are: Troop 2 at Central Presbyterian church at 7:30 Friday night. Some very important business is to be transacted.

Troop 8 will meet Saturday night at 7:30 at the chamber of commerce. Every member is expected to be present.

Troop 8 will leave the First Presbyterian church at 8 p. m. Friday for Camp Clark. Bring supper to cook," says the Scoutmaster.

Services on Sunday
Troop 5, under the direction of Scoutmaster R. B. Matthieson and assistant Scoutmaster Charles Denton, will attend the Methodist Protestant church, corner of Lamar and Avenue A. Twenty-sixth street, Sunday at 11 o'clock. Rev. D. E. McVey will preach a special Scout sermon.

Troops 7 and 2, under the leadership of Alva Abernathy and J. W. Ritchie and Weidon Jeffers respectively will attend the Central Presbyterian church Sunday morning where a special Scout service will be held at 11 o'clock.

Troop 9, Joe B. Caldwell, Scoutmaster will attend the First Christian church at the evening hour for the Scout sermon by Rev. P. F. Herndon.

Troops 8 and 12 will attend the First Methodist church, where Rev. F. M. Richardson will preach a special Scout sermon at the evening hour. David Rainey and Prof. R. E. Brecheen are the respective Scoutmasters of these troops.

Troops 4 and 13 W. J. Vason and W. C. Francis, respective Scoutmasters will attend the First Baptist church, where Rev. W. M. Wright will deliver a special address at the evening hour.

at the Central Presbyterian church will start promptly at 2 p. m., and every present and past Scout and Scoutleader is urged to come. Each one will re-commit himself to the principles of the Scout oath and laws and the Scout habit of "Doing a Good Turn Daily."

This service will vary greatly from the usual type of Sunday afternoon meeting, and those in charge expect a large number of parents and Scout friends to be out for it. Besides the impressive feature mentioned above, there will be music and readings.

The Paris Junior college, the Paris high school and each of the six ward schools of the city will have a Scout speaker at one of their chapel exercises during the coming week.

Some of the best speakers in the city will prepare for this special feature of anniversary week. Visitors are invited to all these services.

"I sure was right— I lit a Lucky"

"So many people have made a fuss over me because in rowing back to the 'America,' after we had picked up the 'Florida' survivors, I was smoking a Lucky Strike. I can't see why there should be any excitement about this—it was the natural thing for me to do. Before we started out from the 'America' I made sure that my pack of Luckies was with me—I wanted the comfort and pleasure of Luckies no matter what happened. I sure was right. I'll have to admit that after we picked up the 'Florida' crew and started back, my nerves were completely let down. So I did the thing I always do at such times—I lit a Lucky. As long as I live, I'll never get another kick as I did from the sweet old toasted flavor of that Lucky as we were tossing about on the old Atlantic. I'm a hundred percent when it comes to 'reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.' I lay off the things that would make me flabby and light up a Lucky instead. There's too much action going on in my life to have me moving around with a lot of excess weight which I don't need. There's another thing about Luckies. The toasting process, in removing the impurities, is a blessing to us who follow the sea. It prevents throat irritation which is a constant nuisance to those who are regularly exposed to salt air."

Why suffer with Rheumatism?

You know it cannot be rubbed away

ARE you one of those unfortunate who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered with rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs... then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best."—Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

MORRISON MAY COACH VIRGINIA

Mustang Mentor Admits Negotiation With Virginia State U

DALLAS, Feb. 6. (AP)—Coach Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist university admitted tonight he was considering seriously an offer to become head coach of the University of Virginia.

After a long distance conversation with officials of the school, Morrison said it all depended upon the outcome of a conference there tomorrow. Asked for an explanation, the Mustang mentor said there were certain requirements which must be met before he would be interested.

If the committee reports favorably Morrison indicated he would go before the SMU athletic council and ask to be relieved from his contract which has one more year to run.

The county winners will decide at this meet who will represent this district at the state meet to be held in Austin.

The district track and field meet will be held in Paris in April, said Mr. Berry.

BASEBALL RESTORED AT ARKANSAS U

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 6. (AP)—The athletic council of the University of Arkansas today restored baseball as a major sport at the university after a year of controversy over the question.

The game was banned at the end of the last playing season, but students protested vigorously and the question has been pending for some time. Coach Jeff Farris plans to play a 24 game schedule which will include the University of Chicago, the Northwestern university, St. Louis university and Washington university of St. Louis, as well as a number of state college teams and Oklahoma A. and M.

Louis Mathon, age 101, is reputed to be the oldest survivor of the Crimean campaign in France or England and the last Crimean veteran.

MELODRAMA NOW THRILLS NEW YORK

Christopher Morley Revives the Blood-and-Thunder Plays of the Old Days

By G. D. Seymour

NEW YORK.—Dastardly deeds are frustrated and virtue wins the day over at the Old Rialto theater in Hoboken these holiday evenings. Christopher Morley's stock company has been reviving that 60-year-old thriller "After Dark," or "Neither Maid, Wife, Nor Widow," and for three weeks New York larkers have been flocking to the ancient playhouse across the Hudson to hiss and cheer and stomp.

The object of their hisses is Richard Knatchbull—curse him! The recipient of their cheers is Old Tom, who renounces a life of gin to please the blond Eliza and then discovers himself to be her long-lost father. The stumps are in time to the music as Mr. B. Cass sings, at the close of Act II, Scene 2, that sprightly but touching old ballad, "Gentle Annie."

If New Yorkers discover at last that Hoboken is something more than the cue for laughter in a vaudeville jest, or an inconvenient metropolitan environment to whose piers one must sometimes go to meet an incoming ocean liner, Hoboken may have Morley to thank.

Last September he acquired the Old Rialto theater and announced a season of modern and ancient plays. "Seidel over to Hoboken, last seacoast of Bohemia," he invited. His venture has prospered, its popularity abetted by the discovery that dinners are tasty and the brew good to quaff at half a dozen German inns close to the theater and the waterfront. Not a few Gotham revellers have discovered, on a visit to Morley's theater, Hoboken's quaint and stolid German settlement, a playground as yet unspoiled by too much popularity, and only a dozen minutes from Herald Square by the Hudson tubes.

Peanut Eaters Unwelcome.

Morley vends his dramas, ranging from this ancient relic of the sixties to the latest Broadway successes, at a box office sale.

Four Religions Join in Marriage Ceremony

BELGRADE, (AP)—At a wedding recently celebrated in Belgrade the bride was Catholic, the bridegroom Orthodox Christian, the best man a Mohammedan priest and the chief bridesmaid Protestant. Despite their religious differences there was perfect accord among the guests.

This is typical of religious tolerance in Yugoslavia, where a people with three state religions live peacefully together.

SWIM CHAMPION TO FINISH COLLEGE

Ethel Lackie, holder of six swimming records, has deserted amateur ranks in order to acquire funds for a college education.

which ranges from 50 cents to $1.25.

His company, of which he is an active member only in emergencies, has presented one of his own plays and plans soon to offer another. The theater is a laboratory wherein Morley tests with any production that suits his fancy, and wherein young dramatists of promise may get a hearing.

Audiences have that informal attitude that makes for intimacy and fellowship, the entrepreneur's only request being that spectators refrain from eating peanuts during the acts, as it mars the performance.

The Big Tunnel Scene.

"After Dark," which Morley dug out of the annals of the past, has been the most popular play of the Old Rialto season thus far. William A. Brady played it on Broadway in the nineties or earlier, but theatergoers of the present generation had never quite believed there were such plays in the good old days.

Not only does it reincarnate a heroine so pure that Elsie Dinsmore was an infamous little blackguard in comparison, it out-Bellocos Belasco with a thrilling rescue of the drowned hero from the jaws of a fast train in the darkness of the Lackawanna tunnel; it recreates the Silver Hell gaming hall on New York's waterfront; and it has brought from oblivion the ballads grandfather sang.

Tomorrow night: East Lynne.

Dispatches to the Journal of Commerce from spot centers: Memphis reports completion of January covering by merchants, fairly large mill stocks and unsatisfactory developments in textile developments, curtailed demand.

Heavy tenders on March contracts forecast by growth of certificated stock. The basis one inch and longer is still trending upward. Charlotte reports some curtailment talk but very few mills adopting short time. Two or three mills in that section closed down two days last week and week before.

Most mills have sufficient supplies to carry them well into summer and many have contracted for all they will need before the new crop begins to move. A good deal of price fixing done during the week by mills. Greenville reports trade expectations quiet last week. No change in basis. Fall River reports some business in sheet, inch and inch and one-sixteenth staple.

Fort Worth Livestock

FORT WORTH, Feb. 6. (AP)—Slaughter steers about steady with a fair demand here today. All classes of cows, yearlings and bulls fairly active at steady to strong prices. Very few calves on hand and they sold around steady prices. Hogs steady to 15 cents lower.

The supply of calves light but sold about steady with a top carlot at $8.10; canners and cutters fully steady and sold readily with very few under the $5 level and cutters up to $6.

Slaughter yearlings and heifers apparently sold to a better demand with carlots at $11.25 and $11.50 and others in the $10 notch.

Very few calves on hand to test the market, sales steady and a few of better calves up to $11.50 and the bulk sales at $10.50 and $11.25. Cull calves sold around $6.50.

Hogs steady at 15 cents lower, rail top $9.60; truck top $9.

Death of "Jack" Fox Terrier Pal, Grieves Scouts

He was just a bobbed-tail fox terrier, but he probably numbered among his human friends as many people as the average man.

He was owned by Joe R. Caldwell's family but could be seen almost daily in the vicinity of Scarborough & Caldwell's establishment.

ment or accompanying one of his many friends about town.

"Jack" was an unusually smart dog. He had learned among other things how to lead his friends to the nearest market and make them buy him meat. This proved his undoing as too much raw meat brought on dropsy. Although he received medical treatment and careful nursing, the disease got the better of him.

He will be missed by the Boy Scouts of Paris, especially troop 9, with whom he attended many Scout hikes and meetings.

Just a little bit of sunshine will no doubt go out of the lives of all those who knew "Jack" when they learn of his death.

Caveat emptor

A few years ago "Let the buyer beware" was not far from being the motto of American business. If a man set out to buy a razor he might get a very excellent one—and, again, he might not. There were some very fine products. And some very poor. And there was no way of choosing the good from the bad except by test.

Today the condition hardly exists. In every line of merchandise there are trade-marked, standardized products. Products that are unvarying in quality and performance—that can be depended upon year in and year out. When you buy them you know what they are, what they'll do and what they cost. They're advertised products!

To take full advantage of this—to protect yourself—to save money—watch the advertisements! When you need anything turn to the advertising columns of this paper. Read about the things listed there. When you find the article you need, buy it—not haphazardly, but by name!

BIG CROWDS AT AUCTION SALE

W. W. Staples Jewelry Sale Offering Real Bargains to Patrons

An auction sale, conducted at the jewelry house of W. W. Staples, was the novelty that attracted a capacity crowd yesterday afternoon and evening. Two sales were held in the afternoon and one in the evening, beginning at 7:30, and at each sale the crowd overflowed the building. An auction sale of jewelry, especially from such a well known house as W. W. Staples, is in itself a novelty, but it was a big success.

Despite unfavorable weather the building could not have accommodated more people, and the sales were brisk. Mr. Staples reported that the opening day was all and more than anticipated, both in the volume of sales and the number of people attending.

The sale is being conducted by J. W. Stacey, a man who is nationally known as a salesman and auctioneer. Mr. Stacey concluded a remarkable sale at Fort Worth just before coming to Paris. Mr. Stacey was agreeably surprised.

Prevented Wreck

Hearing a rumble that reminded him of a landslide as he lay ill in his Dyesville, O., home, Glenn Cline, 21, pulled himself from bed and investigated a nearby railroad cut to find it full of boulders and stone. Then he dragged himself down the track and flagged a fast passenger train that was approaching, in time to prevent the train from plowing into the filled cut, probably saving a hundred lives.

On arriving here, with the Staples stock of merchandise.

"You can say for me," said Mr. Stacey, last evening, "that the stock of jewelry, silverware, watches, etc., owned by Mr. Staples, was a surprise to me."

"It is one of the cleanest and highest class stocks of merchandise I have ever encountered in a town the size of Paris," continued Mr. Stacey. "It is an accumulation of fourteen years of merchandising, and there are some really wonderful values to be offered. The stock is free of junk, and on every article sold there goes with it a guarantee from Mr. Staples. It is a real pleasure to sell such merchandise, although we are getting only a fraction of its cost."

Every article of merchandise that is put on sale is being sold at the highest bid, no matter how small the bid. Yesterday diamonds were sold for below cost, and other articles went in proportion. Buyers are quick to pick up bargains, and they are certainly getting them at the Staples Auction sale.

In addition to the many bargains offered, free prizes are given to ladies attending each sale.

When You Catch Cold Rub On Musterole

Just Rub Away Danger

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grand-mother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Motherhood no longer dreaded by thousands of women

LOOKING towards maternity should always be a period of joyful anticipation in a woman's life, rather than one of dread and doubt, as is so commonly the case.

However, the conditions of pending motherhood, existing as they do, over a protracted period of months, create almost a new state of being for a woman. Just as she prepares herself for it, so will most favorable conditions prevail when her child is born.

As an aid for the relief of the distressing phases of expectancy, and in the alleviation of the hardships that usually come with childbirth, Mother's Friend is a beneficent boon to womankind that has all but worked miracles.

"I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the greatest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers," writes Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla.

"Mother's Friend did wonders for me," writes Mrs. John S. Herr, Nankin, Pa. "I can't most say my baby was born without pain."

Externally applied, Mother's Friend, relieves prenatal distress by relaxing tight tissues and muscles. Its daily use makes the skin soft and pliable.

Mother's Friend is the discovery of an eminent physician. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. For over three generations Mother's Friend has relieved expectant mothers of much suffering. Begin using Mother's Friend today. The sooner the better. Sold by drug stores—everywhere.

Caldwell Home Fire Damaged

Fire believed to have been caused by a shorted electric wire in the attic of the residence occupied by T. E. Caldwell at Twenty-fifth and Clarksville streets at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, partially destroyed the upper portion of the house and resulted in considerable water damage in other parts of the house.

The flames were confined to the attic, stated Chief Moss, without damaging other parts of the dwelling. Water damage was greater than that caused by the fire, he said. The loss was unestimated.

The house, where the old J. W. Rodgers homestead, a landmark among the early larger residences of the city.

FLIRTATIONS BOTHERED PURITANS, WRITER SAYS

BOSTON, (P)—New England Puritanism in the seventeenth century was bothered by bootlegging and other problems not unlike those of today, says Prof. Henry W. Lawrence of Connecticut college.

Even petting parties were not unknown, but had different names—bundling, for instance.

"Now England in the seventeenth century," writes Professor Lawrence in "The Not-Quite Puritans," "was probably no more wholesome than it is in the twentieth."

The seventeenth century, he says, specialized in repression and as a result had coquettes, fops and narrow escapes from breach of promise suits to contend with.

Within a dozen years or so after the settlement of Massachusetts began, the flirtation problem had become so serious that the fathers felt constrained to pass a law for curbing "the pernicious habit of unauthorized courtship."

In fact, the waywardness of youth was such that in 1713 the Rev. Cotton Mather wrote in his diary:

"There are knots of riotous Young Men in Town. On Purpose to insult piety, they will come under my Window in the Middle of the Night and sing profane and filthy songs. The last Night they did go and fell upon People with

Woman Quits As Railroad Head After 30 Years

ALTON, Ill., Feb. 6, (P)—Miss Katherine Wilson has resigned after thirty years' service with the railroad, of which she was virtually in charge in recent years.

She rose from stenographer to assistant to the general manager, while the line grew from a six-mile single industry road to a fifty-mile line, serving one of the most active industrial districts in the Middle West. When she was executive assistant the Illinois terminal railroad achieved the reputation of being one of the most profitable railroads in the country.

The belt line was sold eight months ago to the Illinois Power and Light corporation, which also controls the Illinois traction system, better known as the McKinley lines, for a reported $7,500,000. The value of the property was traced to Miss Wilson's management, railroad operators affirm.

Miss Wilson has attempted several times to resign since the road was sold, but the new owners repeatedly urged her to remain. She gave as her reason for resigning that, under the new control, the road is too large, as about 450 miles of track would come under her direction, and she felt she had devoted enough of her life to working and wished to retire.

Silk and Wool Ensembles $1975

Just in yesterday . . . a most charming group of ensembles at a most attractive price. They are fashioned of Silk and Wool combined. The coats are of wool and the dresses have silk blouses with woolen skirts of the same material as the coats. Kashas and tweeds are the woolens, while flat crepe is the predominating silk. They are shown in tans, greys and navy.

You will find this group of ensembles to be most interesting. Larger figures will appreciate the slenderizing effect which the ensemble gives, while more slender types will love them simply for their smartness. They are of simple lines enhanced with lovely detail work.
